Making a commitment to a couple-relationship deserves careful thought as well as innate love. This book gives the reader seven areas of compatibility to examine when making a relationship choice. Each area is related to a chakra. Author's note: While yearning for compatible love, I read philosophies from many periods in history and varied cultures. There were two camps of thought going back centuries as well as continued in today's world. One camp said make a list of what you seek. Another said follow your heart. It seemed to me that a combination of both were needed so I originally wrote the book as guidance for myself. All methodologies I encountered were helpful and illuminating. Still I needed a right-match road for my personal life-approach. I sought something honoring the mystery of grace and feelings as well as practical choice. Writing and using my own book worked for me. I fell in love with someone who expanded my world in many magical previously unknown ways. I found myself more fulfilled than ever before in relationship, sharing areas of compatibility I had asked for. I could give much of myself authentically while sharing new worlds that deepened my heart and soul. The blend of he and I created something fully new which evolved over fifteen years. Love is not enough. Compatibility is a must! Learn the secrets of compatibility with Dr. Laurie Moore." John Gray, author of "Men are from Mars, Women are from Venus".
