Death in the Sydney Opera House (Death in the Australian Outback) (Volume 4) Anthony E Thorogood

There is a crazy man with a sharp knife and it is only inches away from Police Sergeant Elizabeth West's throat. Talk about a bad hair day, how did she get into such a predicament?

Sydney's Bondi Beach was never like this. Police Sergeant West, with her two supposed superiors, turn up at Bonga Bonga beach to investigate the murder of a young girl, Detective Bigfoot and his little buddy Detective Littlefoot head straight for the local eatery and order sausages! Can Elizabeth pull them into line and will the bizarre line of investigation Bigfoot is following lead to a near death experience for her.

Think of Agatha Christie's Hercule Poirot trying to deal with Monty Python's dead budgerigar!

A very humorous and crazy read.

Give this hilarious whodunit a go, you may never be quite the same again.

Bursts at the seams with superb comic characters.

A Joke a minute truly written by a funny man.

I was a bit worried about Sydney because it got bad reviews BUT it deserves all five stars in a five star review. It's fun and there is so little fun about in this world of global warming, climate change and terrorism I will read this again and again, thank you Mr Thorogood.
