Excerpt from Minnesota: Its Advantages to Settlers, 1868

The pamphlet issued by me January, 1867, was received in such a way as to call for a similar work for 1868. The flattering endorsements which the nine editions of those years received from the Press, the Legislature, the State Board of Immigration, and the public, seem to warrant an issue for 1869. If the pamphlet of 1868 was an improvement upon that of 1867, I trust this will be found a still greater improvement upon its predecessors. The plan for its circulation has proved a success - a copy is sent to each name furnished me whether the person thinks of seeking a new home or not. If the pamphlet falls into the wrong hand at first, it finds its way to the right one at last. A residence here of twelve years and an immense correspondence, embracing every State and Territory in our own and many foreign countries, satisfies me that the facts regarding Minnesota are not known in the world.

While many of the general items of the last editions are preserved in this, it will be found enlarged and improved in [many respects, and brings us down to January, 1869.

I have tried to avoid exaggeration, aiming to faithfully and impartially represent the whole State. It is not designed to persuade persons to come here who are doing well enough where they are, but to give those seeking new homes reliable information as to this young, attractive and progressive State.

Upon the important question of health, I have given the able treatise of Dr. T. Williams, and added the opinion of Dr. D. W. Hand, of St. Paul.

Coming here over twelve years ago, an invalid, myself a beneficiary of this climate, I have studied this question with interest, and can say that each year has served to confirm me in the opinion that Minnesota is unsurpassed for health.
